

JEREMY JOHNSTON NAMED SALES MANAGER AT NEW YORK BUS SALES

(Chittenango, NY) --- New York Bus Sales LLC President Sean Finnerty today announced the promotion of Jeremy Johnston to the position of Sales Manager for the company. Jeremy assumes the role after having served as Sales Coordinator for the past year. In his new position, Jeremy will directly supervise the five-person sales force that represents the longtime Blue Bird School Bus dealer in the State of New York. The Sales Manager position had been vacant for the past year following the promotion of Paul Daniels to Sales Director.

Jeremy began his association with New York Bus Sales in 2009 and has previously worked in the roles of On Road Technician and School Bus Salesperson. Jeremy also gained invaluable supervisory experience and product knowledge while serving as the Northeast Regional Manager for Blue Bird Corporation before returning to the New York Bus Sales fold in 2020. "Jeremy's knowledge of the company, product and our customer roster is what makes him the ideal choice for this critical role," said Finnerty. "We believe our team is poised to move onto even greater heights with this promotion."
